THE BELLE OF ST, LOUIS.

The Young Lady That Mr. Tilden Had a Fatherly Affection for.

From the Philadelphia Press. Miss Neilie Hazeltine, the beile of St. Louis, whose name much against her wil, has become somewhat famous in the newpapers, has arrived in this city, and is stop ing with her friend, Mrs. Florence I. Duncan, the talented authoress, on Arch Street Miss Hazeltine is at present engaged in selecting a portion of her trousses from a well known importing firm, as she is to be married rext month to Freder ck Paramore a young millionaire of St uis. After the happy event Mr. and Mrs Paramore will sail for Europe, where they both have a number of friends and relatives among the old country families.

T e claims of Miss Hazetine's friends that she is the most be utiful lady in her native State are well founded, as she is a lovely demiblonde of petite stature, with tresses of the true Titianesque hue. Her face is a pure oval, and her eyes are large, sparkling and expres ive Like Grosve nor, her beauty has been a fatal gift, as it has caused her to be the object of envy and gossip. Not long since it was reported that she had captivated the venerable Samuel J Ti den at white Sulphur Springs, so that he asked her hand in in rriage, and was accepted. As Miss Hazeltine remark-

This was too absurd, as Mr. Tilden had only shown me a fatherly attention, of which I was justly proud."

The story that was published in the paa bouquet and her picture to a Philade phia opers singer name Ammeg, in St. Louis which went the rounds of the papers re-cently, is strongly denied by her friends here, who place a very different version on the story. They assert that a friend of Miss Hazeltine, who proposed marriage to her and was rejected, started the story, and in-duced the actor to boast of the lady's ac-quaintance, and in proof of this when doubted he produced a letter in imitation of her handwriting and a photograph which it is stated was stolen. For this Willie Hazeltine, a brother of the lady, and Mr. Paramore soundly pummered the actor, who brought suit for assault. The gertleman paid 500 dollars as a slave to the wounded honor of the fellow, who was glad to accept it. This case has been so misrepresented in the papers as tocause the most intense annoyance to Mi-s H-z-l-tine and her many friends. During her visit inthis city Mrs Duncan will act as her "guide, phi o opher, and friend," and to-mor ow evening will give one of her char E. ming receptions in honor of the belle.

The following Thanksgiving proclamation was issued by D. W. Bushybead, principal chiefofthe Cherokee Nation, Ingian Territory;

Last year the census of the population and possessions of the Cherokee Nation was first taken within their history we have now counted our tressures and know for what and for how much we should feel grateful as a family of people having and ccupying one heme in common. From record. blessed with one hundred and two primary schools f a rapidly increasing population of twenty thousand three hundred citizens: two Highschools-male no female; snor-pian asylum; an asylum for the unfortunate, incane, blind and helpness; forty-five hurches, and as many native ministers of the gespel; one hundred and fifty native teachers by profession; a written Constitu-tion and Code of laws; a government consisting of executive, legislature, an judicial branches, well understood and adminiered; a people peaceful and progressive, and in material regards more than self-supporting, and having but five fishermen and fifteen bunters by occupation lest among them as the last vestage of a savage state from which we have been rescued within the memory of men yet living by the goodness of an overruling Providence.

"Such is the situation of the Cherokee Nation to-day, in a fair and ample count y secured to them by tre ty and by patent, and of which the honor and honesty of their great earthly protector, the United States Government, is pledged to guard their possession. Such are the blessings for which our thanks are continually due, among which blessings the first and best of all is saving know edge whence th y come and a sense of obligation which restrains pride "Therefore, I. D. W. Bushyhead, Princi pal Chief of the Cherokee Nation, do hereby, in pursuance of an ancient Christian 233 Western Ave., Lynn. Mass, for pamcustom, and the recommendation of the cresident of the United States, appoint Thursday, November 24, A. D. 1881, as a day of public Thanksgiving throughout this nation, and call upon the Cherokee people to devote the time designated to the giving of expressions and evidences of their thank fulness to the Supreme Being for his kindness and love, in such ways and by such observances as shall become a Christian, orderly, and conscientious people. Let us tosnk H m for all His dispensations, as gifts of H:s goodness for our good, never forgetting that blessings are such indeed only when used in the cause of the Great Giver, which is the happiness of all alike; and the results of our shortcomings are but penevolent cautions against evil, no less lessings, if we so regard them, than the happy consequences of virtuous life. Premature Loss of the Hair May be entirely prevented by the use of BURNETT'S COCOAINE.
